“To be a modernist is a way of living, and how one approaches life. It’s not just about having the latest design from Milan, because if you know what you’re doing you can have an antique piece that feels very modern in an environment.”

The reason geometric pattern in interior design has managed to last throughout the ages is due to its versatility and boldness. It's not limited to a certain design style, therefore investing in key pieces is an ideal way to bring this timeless trend into your home, to be passed down through generations as the style evolves
